Across
1. Another scale to report temperature, it has its 0 point defined by a mixture of salt and ice
2. a lower level of oxygen in the water
3. can be tested in an aquarium with a cold and a warm part
4. the difference between routine and maximum oxygen consumption
6. The scientific scale for temperature measurements, with the absolute zero at -273.15C or -459.65F
7. a short term rapid change in a variable
8. One of the scales used for reporting temperature, has its 0 point at the freezing point of water
9. the only way an ectotherm can change their body temperature
10. a process that will adapt an individual animal to a new environment

Down
5. an animal that do not produce heat to maintain a constant body temperature